bers, but the lookers on were few, and had evidently only dropped in to avoid the storm that was prevailing ontside during the early part of the evening. The meeting in both branches was a very quiet one and were not characterized by any bad breaks between members. The only business considered outside of the dry routine was the ordinance submitted by the Finance Committee scaling down the annual appropriations made to some of the dopartments and increasing those made to other, principally that made to the Health department, which was increased from $3,100 to $6,300. thereby silowing for the building of the crematory and all the adjuncts to that new concern. The contingent fund is also increased by this ordinance. The ordinance as afraited contemplated cutting off $2,400 from the appropriation made to the Fire Department. In the original ordinance $450 was allowed for a small improvement on the Island. Mr. Hildreth was not present to defend that appropriation and a lew of the members after caucusing resolved to strike it cut. This was done and the ordinance as amended was passed by both branches thereby allowing the payment for the building of the crematory without infringing on the provisions of the Restraining ordinance.

The Second branch was not called to order until sites 80 clock. The members present were Mesers. Butts, Caldwell, Delbrugge, Gilliland, Gruse, Harrell, Healy, Miller, McKinley, Shanley, Smith, Tracy, Vecekier, Waterhouse, Weigerber, Yahn and President Sweney. Shot For a Ghost.

A special from Point Pleasant says: Two families, Auguish and Edwards, occupy the same dwelling house in this city. Last night as Anguish was entering the gate with a sack of meal upon his shoulder he heard the click of a revolver and he exclaimed, "Don't shoot," at about which time a pistol was discharged. The ball lodged in his abdomen, producing a bail longed in his accounted, protecting a severe and perhaps fatal wound. It was afterward ascertained that the shot was fired by the younger Relwards, who was standing in the shadow of an outboilding, mistaking, as he says, Anguish for a ghost. The matter is being investigated.
